Participants were given a theme related to magic tricks and illusion, and had to present their ideas in a unique and expressive way. The Editorial and Digital Communication departments worked behind the scenes to ensure smooth registrations, promotions, and coordination. The event saw enthusiastic participation, with students showcasing exceptional creativity. It not only gave them a platform to express themselves but also helped build their confidence and imaginative thinking. The event was well-received and fulfilled the NEP's goal of nurturing holistic development through co-curricular engagement.
