Venue: Online

No. of Participants: 66

Description

Inspired by witty notification styles, Notification Nation invited participants to craft humorous, catchy, or emotionally resonant app-style notifications. The challenge was to grab attention with very few words—just like real-life push notifications do. This event sharpened participants' micro copywriting abilities and taught them the importance of tone, word economy, relatability, and humor in modern digital communication. Participants also learned how copy can influence user behavior and engagement in real-world applications.
